Subject: Comment re revisions to 5.6

CAUTION - EXTERNAL:

There are proposed revisions I do not believe are correct. In a number of instances “who” has been crossed out and “that” inserted instead. Even a quick Google search results in the following:

When you determine whether to use who or that, keep these simple guidelines in mind: Who is always used to refer to people. That is always used when talking about inanimate objects (that computer, that piece of paper...) That can also be used when talking about a class or type of person, such as “that” team.

Sincerely,
